@mrjhwapgvt is my account on Twitter that was designed to help keep government students up-to-date on the current events developing within the American Government. While the posts sometimes deal with the AP Government class (i.e. test dates, projects due), I do post lots of articles related to our government (i.e. the Presidential election, SCOTUS cases, Congressional legislation). Feel free to follow. By the way, I am sometimes funny on there as well.
